Kłos & Dąbrowski PROJECT – project consists of young generation musicians who graduated from Polish Music Academies. Band members are: Jarosław Dąbrowski - alto sax, soprano sax, Łukasz Kłos - trumpet, Eryk Nowak - piano, Michał Nienadowski - bass, Piotr Budniak - drums. Musicians generally work as sidemans and bandleaders. Their music is filled with bop sound with an elements of blues, funk and electronic music. The latest project arose in cooperation with American guitarist, vocalist and composer Mike Russell.

Mike Russell was born in 1952 in Washington D.C. and began studying classical and Flamenco guitar at an early age. His professional career started in the 60s with soul and blues bands. Song writing and composing was an early interest and this creative side resulted in some studio work with Columbia Records as guitarist and composer. The year 1970 was his first record release as composer and the title "Black Woman" was recorded by Grammy nominated Gloria Taylor and culminated in a US tour. The year 1972 saw his own Jazz-Rock group "Water Forest" perform Andy Warhol at the Kennedy Center in Washington. Since moving to Berlin in 1989 he has performed with Eddy Harris, Billy Bang and many others. He formed the Black Heritage Orchestra with singer MFA KERA and released the CD in 1995 which reached the Top 10 European world music charts. He also has created his own Jazz-Soul-Funk sound. He performed on German TV, Guinness Festival, South Africa, Greece, Poland and America and recently returned to Washington D.C. to perform with Black Heritage at the world famous Blues Alley Jazz Club. He was also invited to host special workshops at the George Washington University Jazz department in 2002.
